

[EN]

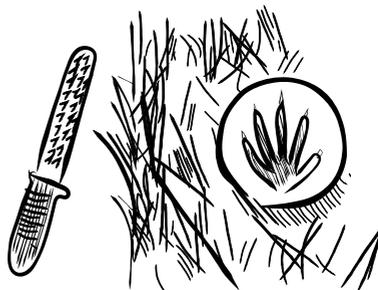

Dormice shelter

What do I have to consider when constructing?

Larch wood is more resinous than spruce wood. This makes it more weather-resistant and water-repellent and thus offers better protection against the cold.

Use rough, unplanned wood so that the young can climb out of the box in spring.

Coverings with roofing felt or bitumen contain environmental toxins and should be avoided.